

Mint Restaurant at Macau Sporting Club

Press Release

A recent magazine article on Mint Restaurant recently remarked that a casino was not likely to be associated with chips that required salt & vinegar, particularly hand cut gourmet chunky chips! However of all of the restaurants to have opened in the last 12 months, Mint is one of the most unique.

Mint Restaurant is nestled away from the hustle & bustle of Cork City, yet directly convenient to the vibrant City Centre. The restaurant offering a contemporary style dinner menus, is located beside the Macau Sporting Club, widely acknowledged as Cork's Premier Sporting Club. As far as we are aware, none other such type of stand-alone restaurant operates in such close association or proximity to a casino.

Located on Patrick's Quay in Cork, the actual site of the restaurant has many gastronomic connections. In times gone by Patrick's Quay were an open quay and merchant ships docked, and cargo loaded & unloaded. The Musgrave family previously occupied the premises, where-in teas were blended, and wines selected & cellared. In more recent times the premises housed a sweet factory. Although the quays have been long since closed in, Mint Restaurant is that link with the historical past.

A host of locally sourced ingredients abound from Ardsalagh Goats Cheese, Irish Hereford Beef, to the Slaney Valley Lamb, and a wide selection of seafood from the waters around West Cork, feature on the Dinner Menu. Enormous care has been devoted to the creation of a unique fusion menu which caters to a wide variety of tastes and allows the diner to rediscover the excitement of diverse ingredients and flavours.

Set away from the trickle of the Roulette Wheel, Mint combines Irish Gourmet Cuisine and the exhilaration of a Card Room, offering you the option to partake in the Casino if you so wish. Designed within its own unique space, an inviting milieu of natural hues, golden tones, natural woods, and ornate furnishings, combined with fine art works provides a sleek appeal. Guests will experience both "the scene and cuisine," savouring an approachable, high-quality menu in a cutting edge environment that feels at once intimate and expansive.

Whether interested in a pre-show dinner, a wonderful meal, part of a visit to the Casino or as a late-night dining experience, you will find a sophisticated yet welcoming ambience. Mint offers many packages including an introduction too our Casino & Card Room for both private & corporate parties.
